End of Quarter Goal: $15,000. Deadline: Midnight on September 30

Larry, we're living at a critical moment for our planet. This summer, we lived through the HOTTEST month ever recorded on Earth, topping the mark just set in 2023. From scorching wildfires to floods to hurricanes like Helene, we are suffering the consequences of fossil fuel-driven disasters – and our most vulnerable communities are hit the hardest.

But we CAN still turn things around, Larry. At Climate Reality, our network of 3.5 million activists is fighting the climate crisis at its core by reducing emissions, calling out greenwashing, supporting fair financing for a just transition, and strengthening international cooperation on urgent climate solutions.

Please, will you donate to Climate Reality now to help us reach our $15,000 end-of-quarter goal to fund our efforts to keep fighting for a safer climate future?

Your urgent support powers our work to build a truly net zero future, including:

- Advocating for ambitious policies that drive the rapid system change we need and propel the shift to clean energy alternatives. Your gift fuels our fight for policies that bring real solutions to ALL our communities.
- Mobilizing communities across the planet to prevent new fossil fuel pipelines and power plants from ever being built and shut down current facilities. Your gift helps us train more grassroots leaders across the globe and build community opposition to fossil fuel projects.
- Helping us support our network as they unlock the power of government incentives to electrify their homes, businesses, and communities and cut emissions right where they live. Your gift helps us connect communities with the resources they need to access tax credits and incentives for planet-saving clean technologies.

With global temperatures rising, our grassroots fight for a sustainable future is critical, and we can't afford to slow down. Please, Larry, rush a gift to Climate Reality right now to power our advocacy for the real solutions our planet desperately needs.

Thank you for everything you do to help secure a safe climate future.
